

Ski Goggle Features Checklist

Print this page, then check the features you want most. Next time you shop for ski goggles, take this checklist with you, to ensure you find the best goggle for your needs.

Lenses
No lens distortion	Photochromic lens that darkens/lightens according to
 Clear lens for sunset and nighttime Lens tint for cloudy, foggy, low-light days Lens tint for bright, sunny days Mirror coating for bright days Lens tint that provides truest color 	conditions Interchangeable lenses Polarized lens for glare reduction 100 percent protection against UV rays Wide peripheral vision
		Fit
		Strap that's easy to adjust and stays adjusted	☐ Smaller or narrower face
		Comfortable frame and strap	☐ High cheekbones, low nose bridge (often called "Asian fit")
		Goggles that fit with or without helmet	☐ Goggle can be worn over eyeglasses
Comfortable, high-quality foam or fleece inserts	Goggle can take a prescription insert
☐ Larger face
Anti-Fogging
Double lenses to discourage condensation	☐ Adequate vents
☐ Anti-fog coating	☐ Anti-fog fan
Safety
☐ Frames and lenses of polycarbonate, Trivex or other	☐ Flexible frames and lenses
impact-resistant material	Cushy foam inserts at all points of impact ☐ Prescription insert in impact-resistant material
Nice to Have
☐ Foam or fleece padding that wicks sweat	☐ Customization features such as lens etching and color
☐ Scratch-resistant coating	choices
Nose guard for warmth and impact protection	☐ Full warranty and returnability
☐ Built-in camera for photos and video	☐ Easy parts replacement
 Built-in GPS for speed, altitude and other info

This checklist was adapted from www.allaboutvision.com/buysmart/goggles.htm. Please see the article for more complete information.